Art Therapy

ATH 201 Introduction to Art Therapy (3 credits): What is art therapy? Students are presented with evolving definitions of art therapy. Major historical figures and milestones covered. Theoretical models of art therapy rooted in art and psychology introduced. Frameworks for art therapy practice outlined. Art therapy research and APA writing methods introduced. You must be an art therapy major or minor to take this course.

ATH 275 Art for the Helping Professions (3 Credits): Investigation of the healing nature of art experienced through art materials and processes. Expanding definitions of art and creativity. Exposure to artist-activists and therapists who use art as an instrument of individual and social transformation. Foundation for applied practice in art, art therapy and other helping professions.

Business

BUS 260 Introduction to Entrepreneurship (3 Credits): This course introduces the fundamentals of entrepreneurship. Students learn to successfully transfer knowledge into products and processes that benefit society. The course demonstrates the entrepreneurial mindset, whereby students approach problems, think critically, and respond to the unexpected.

Communication

COM 105 Professional Presentations (3 credits): Offers students an opportunity to master the skills required for effective planning, preparation, and delivery of informative and persuasive speeches. Emphasis placed on delivery, content, organization, and audience adaptation.

COM 231 Intercultural Communication (4 Credits): Explores the communication patterns and perceptions that affect cross-cultural communication. Topics include differences in world-view, perception, verbal and nonverbal communication, and conflict management.

English

ENG 110 Introduction to College Writing (3 Credits): Students in English 110 experiment with new writing techniques and revision strategies in order to produce a carefully polished, college-level writing project. The course asks students to engage with diverse, contemporary texts, participate in lively class discussions, workshops, and one-on-one conferences with the instructor. With ample practice in drafting, re-drafting, revising, and commenting on the work of others, students will exit the course having sharpened their skills as critical readers, writers, and thinkers.

Fashion

FSH 107 Fashion and Career Concepts (2 Credits): Introduction to the dynamic global fashion industry with a focus on essential fashion vocabulary and the fashion cycle. Speakers and career assessments guide students through diverse career paths and opportunities by identifying individual interests and developing an academic and co-curricular plan toward future goals.

FSH 110 Clothing Construction (3 Credits): Introduces first-year students to understanding and application of standard professional sewing techniques including pattern manipulation, cutting, construction, and finishing of garments. Provides an overview of apparel production.

FSH 115 Design Fundamentals Workshop (1 credit): Students have additional access to expert technical guidance and support on assignments produced in fundamental construction and design courses. Recommended for students entering the design program with little to no sewing experience. This pass/fail course counts as elective credit and may be repeated for credit up to 3 credits.

Interior Design

INT 100 Professional Survey (1 Credit): Exposes students to the interior design and architecture professions. Work styles, employment options, and industry practices are explored. Council for Interior Design Accreditation (CIDA), National Council for Interior Design Qualification (NCIDQ), American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) and International Institute of Interior Designers (IIDA) organizations are discussed along with leadership for Energy and Environmental Design (LEED), WELL Building Standard and other industry movements. Field trips that expose students to many areas in the industry. Fee: $25.00

INT 101 Studio 1- Interior Design Fundamentals (4 Credits): Explores the interior design and architecture professions in context with industry conventions, regulations and communication. Studies include the elements and principles of design as applied to three dimensional space will be investigated. Design theory and process will be introduced. Fundamental design applications of lighting systems, architectural and interior design concepts along with furniture criteria will be researched. Supporting foundational software and industry related activities are part of the course.

INT 103 Architectural Drafting (3 Credits): This course is comprised of two parts. Part 1: Introduces elements, tools, and techniques of architectural drawing through basic exercises. Emphasis on the development of hand drafting skills while incorporating design language and drawing standards. Part II: Introduces use of computer-aided drafting for design applications. Emphasizes features, interfaces, and considerations in the use of the software. AutoCAD (current release) for Windows based PCs and various printing devices utilized.
